PETERSBURG, VA., June 6.—The exercises in Petersburg on June 9th, Meinorial Day, will be simple, but will fittingly commitmorate the heroism of the tooys and men of the Cockade City, who on this day in 1844, kept at bay the main army of the enemy.

The Ladies' Memorial Association and the Daughters of the Confederacy have the exercises in charge.

The windows that have been placed in old Blandford Church by the States of Virginia, Louislana and Missouri, and the tablet to the memory of the heroes who fell on the day the people of this city commemorate, erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy, will be unveiled on that day and presented to the city.

The presentation speech will be made by Judge George L. Christian, of Richmond, and the memorials will be received by ex-Governor Cameron on behalf of the city. The only reserved seats, except to the Memorial Association, the Daughters of the Confederacy and the A. P. Hill Camp, will be issued to the widows and sons and daughters of those who fell on the 9th of June, 1864. Badges will be issued to these to pass them at the door. No reserved seats will be issued to the to the side of the confederacy and the A. P. or reserved seats will be issued to the set to pass them at the door. No reserved seats will be issued to the building all persons who could gain admission after the chapters had been seated.

THE VISITORS.

Many persons from Richmond and Norfolk will be in Petersburg to attend these exercises, besides many distinguished visitors from other cities. Among them Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, who is now in Itichmond; General and Mrs. William H. Behan, of New Orleans; J. B. Richardson, of New Orleans; Who is now the president of the Washington Artillery Association, and Mrs. W. II. F. Lee, who was formerly Miss Boiling, of this city. General Stith Bolling will be the chief marshal on the occasion, and the column, which will consist of the military organizations, Knights of Pythias and other orders, will move from Sycamore promptly at 5 o'clock.

orders, will move from Sycamore promptly at 5 o'clock.

The special committee appointed by the Common Council, consisting of Messrs. W. N. Jones, George Cameron, Jr. and Charles W. Bland, will present a majority and a minority report in regard to certain resolutions referred to them concerning the conflict between the Mayor and the Police Committee. The majority report recommends that the entire control of the police force be given to the Mayor, as the responsible head of the city government. Mr. Bland, who makes the minority report, is opposed to placing so much power in the hands of one officer.

Messrs. Granger and Cahill, engineers of the road, were here Sunday last and on Monday began a careful inspection of the topography of the southside of the county. The first survey had gone from Roanoke, in a southeasterly direction, following on the south bank the tortuous course of the Staunton River as far as Leescrile in Campbell county, the one with consideration seeming to be the Stony Fork to Leeserlie an section with Staunton River,

The engineers have now made a preliminary survey of this route, and Mr.
R. D. Binford, who has been active in securing the railroad for Bedford received a letter to-day from Dr. W. P.
Thurman, who went over the ground with the engineers, stating that every indication pointed to the Bedford route.
This is by far the most direct and will cut off at least twenty miles from the Staunton River route. The one difficulty

If the road does follow Goose Greek, it will open up to the world one of the fairest and most fertile sections in Virginia. This broad, level valley, skirted by mountains, covered with virgin forests, is one of the most picturesque and heautiful in this land of magnificent mountain scenery, while its wealth in forest, soil and mines needs but the coming of the iron horse to lead the immediate development.

POWHATAN COONS.

How They Grow and How They Are Captured in That County-

Are Captured in That County-a (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
TRENHOLM. VA., June 5.—One of the largest 'coons ever seen in this section was killed a few days ago by little Nelson Royall and his sister, Miss Emma Royall, of Richmond.
The little boy, who is only eleven years old, was grazing cows about a mile from home with several dogs for companions. The dogs treed a large 'coon. The child took his seat under the tree and waited patiently there all through the long hours of a warm day. He reasoned that when he did not come home at the usual time his brother would come to look for him, and they would kill the 'coon. But when 4 o'clock came he collected his scattered cows and ran home. He told with great excitement of how he had kept watch since 8 o'clock that morning under a tree that held the largest 'coon in the world. As his brother was away it seemed as if the great 'coon would escape after all; but it was then that his sister announced that she would on and seemed as if the great 'coon would escape after all; but it was then that his sister announced that she would go and kill the 'coon. They set out again with two shells loaded with buckshot, and to their surprise found the 'coon still in the tree. Miss Royall took aim, fired, and the king of 'coons fell crashing at her feet. They bore it home in triumph, the child aimost beside himself with joy as he exhibited his sister's first kill. Miss Royall is a trained nurse, well known in Richmond, where she has been located since her graduation from the Old Dominion Training School in 1901. She will take back with her the stuffed skin of the 'coon as a souvenir of her visit

STAUNTON HORSE SHOW.

dents—Splendid Prize List.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
STAUNTON, VA., June 8.—The initial exhibition of the Staunton Horse Show Association promises to be one of the Bresst and most interesting in the State. The prize list, aggregating over $3.000, has just been completed, and this, with a special prize list, containing a number of valuable articles, will cause a great many horse owners from a distance to exhibit here.

In fact, many of the best known horsemen in the State have already signified to the management their intention to enter their horses.

At a recent meeting of the association, fitteen honorary vice-presidents, representing nearly every section of the Old Dominion, were elected, and the majority of these gentlemen have wired their acceptance of the honor conferred upon them. They are Lieutenant-Governor Jos. E. Willard, Richmond; J. Frank Templeton, Waynesboro; J. G. Fulton, Mt. Meridian; M. Bruce Whitmore, Parnassus; C. D. Langhorne, Greenwood; Dr. J. A. Mayers, Harrisonburg; Dr. Owsley, Greenwood; Tate Sterrett, Hot Springs; J. T. Anderson, Richmond; Courtland H. Smith, Alexandria; W. C. Bosserman, Middlebrook; R. A. Clemmer, A. C. Braxton, Andrew Bowling and R. W. Burke, all of Staunton.

The show will be held early in August.
